

KEV'S ITUNES WRAPPED 2022

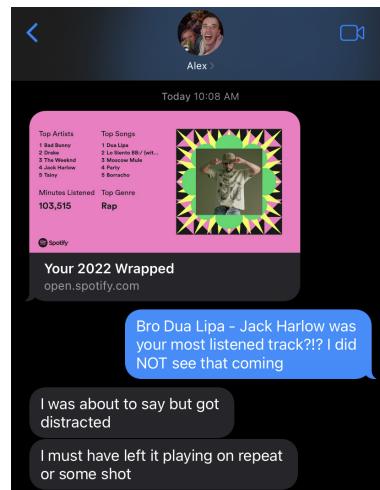

Created November 30th, 2022, and on my lunchbreak instead of during the workday this time.

A Quick Introduction

We're back. I spent 37,511 minutes listening to music in 2022, which is like 26 days, and a little more than last year. This pales in comparison to Alex's ~100k minutes, which means the guy spent like 4.5 hours a day listening to music, almost all of which was certainly Bad Bunny.

In other Spotify Wrapped news, Jonah found himself in the top 0.05% of Curtis Harding listeners this year, firmly placing him in the company of hipsters and tech-loving grandparents.

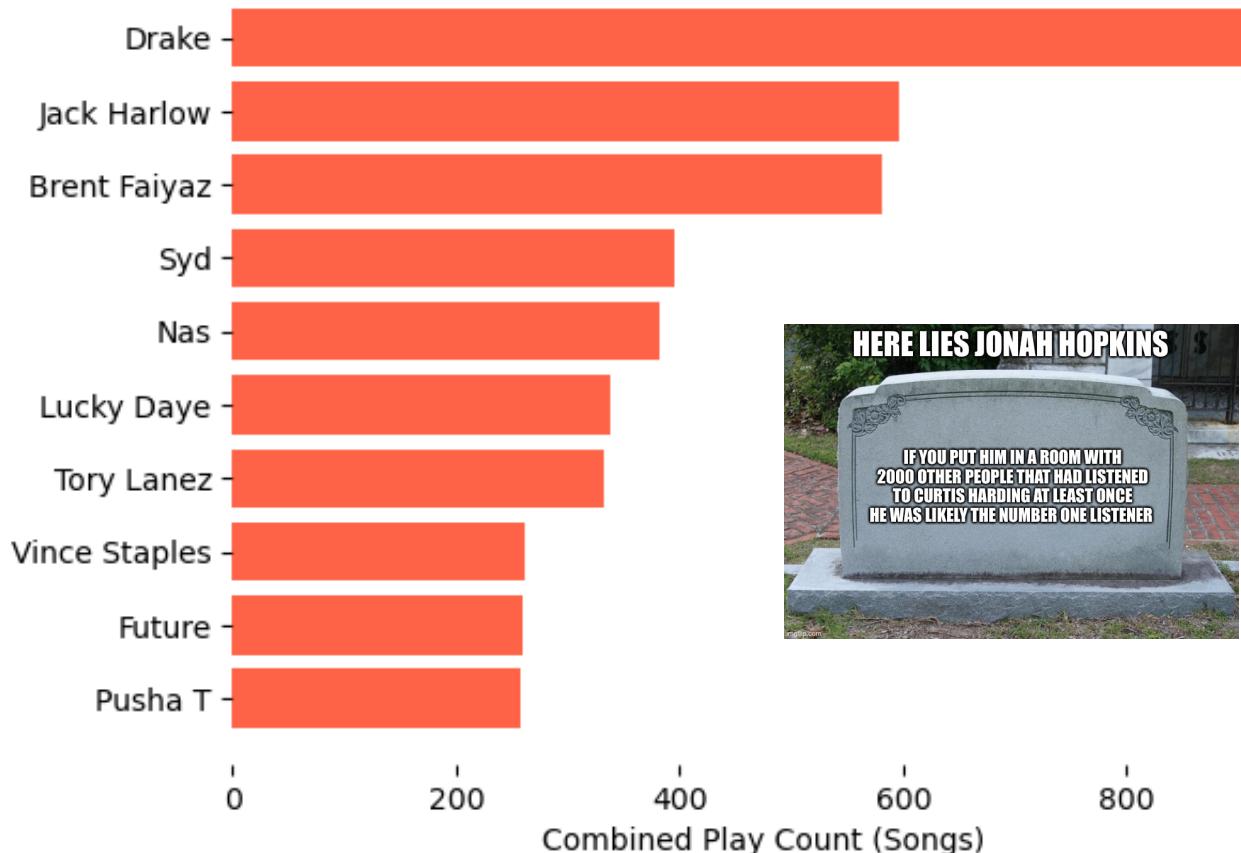

I don't have much else to say, so I instead present to you, my loyal viewers, that same Alex acting like his Spotify got left on repeat because he's embarrassed his top song was none other than Jack Harlow's Dua Lipa.
